I met Mr. immediately on the game being started, Vig. Rogge immediately afterwards. He said "I noles and Ough showed to the front and carried the ball well down into the Bauk's quarters. After some very free kicking here, during which the Club more than once came near scoring, Daw and Stephen relieved their side and took the ball into the Club's "twenty-five." Here the ball remained for a few minutes till Hallward with a long kick placed the ball well in the middle of the field. Here Slade and the ball back into the Bank's territory. The Club's forwards, playing up in good of a value of $80,000 left Hanoi for Lackay on managed to keep the ball here for some time and should have scored more than once. Their kicking was, however, somewhat wild and the passing was rather deficient, and as a result when half time was called neither side could claim any advantage, immediately on the ball being re-started Atkinson and Vignoles led a vigorous attack on the Bank goal. The backs, however, responded and the ball was returned to the middle of the field on each passing then created a diversion in favour of on account of the defendant at $8.50. It was oceasion. the defendant gave the Chinese broker authority to sell the shares on his b half. Of course verbal authority would be quite sufficient. The whole case hinged, his Lordship thought, on the question whether the letter put in by the plainiffs was the lotter which was written by Wong Yik Lam to the defoudant, and he must adopt this a pruide to the true interpretation of the facts. If this letter was written by the broker it would orroborate the evidence of broker and strengthon his story; on the other hand if it was not written and if, as the defendant suggested, i was another letter altogether that was written, which the broker obtained from him afterwards by a false pretence, of course the broker's story sould not be believed. The letter which Wong. Yik Lam said be wrote was sent on the 30th November, and in it the defendant was informed that the shares had been sold at $10. The defendant said that was not the letter he received: on the contrary he stated that the letter which he received when he came back from Canton on the 4th December informed him that the shares. had been sold at $8.50. He refused to give them. at that price, and still refused when the broker said he would make up the price to $10 out of his own pocket. His Lordship was struck with the statement made by Mr. Rogge in crossexmention $8.50 as the price at the interview be had with him. If the letter mentioned the price as $10 it was impossible to imagine why the defact threw considerable light on the question of the authenticity of the letter produced. The defendant's own statement on this point was correborated by several other witnesses ; His Lordship was bound to say that he thought these people neemed to give a truthful account of what the defendant himself had given a very plausible by the Company's property. IMPERIAL QUARTO. ENGLISH AND CHINES DICTIONARY. WITH THE PUNTI AND MANDARIN PRONUNCIATION. An Anglo-Chinese Dictionary, published at the Kungpai, Chinese Str.; 602, Clifford, Jan. Daily Press Office, Hongkong.

For comprehensiveness and practical service Loongwhr, Beit. 3-m. soh., 372 Lord. Dec. this Work stanks unrivalled. All the new Loussell & Co words which the Chinese have of late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous objests in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in extenso. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given the accents being carefully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The typography. displays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond in the size of body, thereby effecting a vast economy of space, achieving a clearness not previously Hedvig, British ark, 376, attained, and dispensing with those vast margins and vacant spaces which have heretofore gharactorized Chinese publications. To illustrate the vast scope of the work the following facts are submitted for consideration :-Chalmers' Vocabulary contains about 16,000 Chinese characters, and Medhurst's English and Chinese Dictionary about 100,000, whilst this work contains more than 50,000 English words, and upwards of 600,000 Chinese characters Again, despite all the grammars and Chintans, Chinese str., 907, Winsor, Jan. other elementary works as yet published, the C. M. D. N. Co other elementary works as yet published, the quires examples to display the various applihave one general meaning. Of these examples this work contains more than five times as many as any other Dictionary hitherto, pub-· For practical purposes the arrangement of charged into Craft and/or landed at the the work is so complete, that a reference to its pages enables a person who understands English to communicate effectively with natives who ready for deliver from Craft or Godown on understand nothing but Chinese. In this respect the work will be found indispensable to all Goods undelivered after the 25th instant will Europeans residing in China, and to the natives themselves it explains subjects fully with which very few indeed of them are perfectly acquainted To parties resident in England and interested in China it cannot but be invaluable occasion-
